

REACH at work.

Direct access—from bedside to caregiver.
For immediate nurse response, and more satisfied patients.

Spectralink REACH brings together nurse call systems and wireless handsets to deliver alerts to mobile staff from any in-building location. This direct access allows nurses to answer patient calls without walking back to the nurse station or the patient's room. Spectralink REACH eliminates wasted time and steps on the path to the most efficient care, reducing stress for patients and caregivers and creating more peaceful healing environments.

Available on select models of our DECT and Wi-Fi handsets, Spectralink REACH works efficiently within existing healthcare mobile communications networks. And, because it resides on established networks, it allows for easy deployment and management. Working seamlessly with nurse call systems, Spectralink REACH also includes custom ring tones that help fight alarm fatigue for caregivers so they can prioritize responses—ensuring a constant connection to patient needs.

How Spectralink REACH improves patient care and satisfaction:

Peace of Mind

Assure caregivers they have a constant connection to patient needs, from any in-building location

Direct Nurse Call

Allow patients to communicate directly to caregivers, on the move, with a single touch directly from bedside

Fight Alarm Fatigue

Unique ring tones to prioritize response

Seamless Integration

Get even more out of existing nurse call systems with the addition of mobile handsets so patients can reach mobile caregivers quickly

Eliminate Overhead Paging

Direct nurse communications means less overhead paging—for a more peaceful healing environment

Spectralink solutions help create peaceful, efficient environments to improve patient care. They are always delivered the way you want them with crystal clear voice, direct access to mobile workers, durable and dependable handsets, and interoperability with the top-selling nurse call systems.

Spectralink, a global leader in wireless solutions, solves the everyday problems of mobile workers through technology, innovation and integration that enable them to do their jobs better.

With Spectralink wireless solutions, on-site employees that need on-the-go flexibility can roam freely throughout the workplace while always being in reach without sacrificing voice and data coverage or clarity. Our wide range of products allows people like you to easily connect whenever and wherever your day takes you.

Let the experts from Spectralink help

Whether you lack time or resources, or the skill set and experience to plan, install, configure or validate the successful implementation of Spectralink REACH, our Professional Services team is here to help. Rely on us to design and deliver the highest quality network to help you keep your communications clear and secure.